

This just might be the adventure of your life

Mar 27, 2015 · By CURE International · News

CURE international is looking for some people, but not just any people. We're looking for people who can help us heal the sick and proclaim the kingdom of God. CURE has a network of hospitals and clinics in 30 countries, and in those places of healing, lives are being changed.

Kids with crooked legs and clubfeet can now run and play. Kids with cleft lips and palates can smile and show their face without being ashamed. And kids and parents who've been told that they are cursed are shown - finally - love. They're welcomed with the love of God.

To continue this amazing work, we need orthopedic surgeons, plastic surgeons, nurses, and anesthesiologists. We're looking for medical professionals who are interested in short- and long-term postings in another country with a fantastic, one of a kind ministry that is focused on both physical and spiritual healing.

If you're interested and want to be a part of this, check out the positons available at cure.org/jobs.
